

A photograph of a stone wall and a pile of rocks. The wall is constructed from large, rectangular, reddish-brown stone blocks. To the left of the wall is a pile of dark, jagged rocks, some of which are covered in brown mulch. Small purple flowers are growing from the mulch. The text is overlaid on the image in a white, serif font.

Acts 20:30 Also of your own selves shall men arise, speaking perverse things, to draw away disciples after them.
