

A close-up photograph of a bright yellow flower, possibly a lily, with green leaves and a blurred background. The flower is the central focus, with its petals fully open and showing some texture. The background consists of green foliage and a dark, out-of-focus ground.

Deutronomy 24:15 At his day thou shalt give him his hire, neither shall the sun go down upon it; for he is poor, and setteth his heart upon it: lest he cry against thee unto the LORD, and it be sin unto thee.