

The background of the image shows a sunset or sunrise over a dark landscape. The sky is filled with warm, golden-orange light, with some clouds visible. In the foreground, there is a dark silhouette of a utility pole on the left side. The overall scene is serene and atmospheric.

Hebrews 07:11 If therefore perfection were by the Levitical priesthood, for under it the people received the law, what further need was there that another priest should rise after the order of Melchisedec, and not be called after the order of Aaron?